Copyright Restrictions: Please read carefully and sign

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17 United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.

The UC Irvine Libraries reserves the right to refuse a copying order if, in the staff's judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Reproductions are made available solely for the reference use of the applicant. In providing copies, the library does not thereby grant permission to reproduce further or quote extensively for publication. Property rights reside with the University of California; literary rights generally are retained by the creators of the records and their heirs. For permission to publish, please contact the Head of Special Collections and Archives.

I agree to abide by these restrictions in my use of these photocopies or other reproductions.
